

Didsbury School Concert Give "Green Light" to McKenzie King

The Didsbury Schools will present their Annual Concert in aid of the Red Cross on Wednesday evening, May 6, 8:30 p.m. in the Didsbury Opera House.

The program will consist:
School Orchestra
Physical Training Demonstration
1-act play "Are We Dressing"
Operetta—
"In the Land of Old and New"

The School Orchestra will play 2 concert waltzes.

The demonstration by 12 girls of the Physical training classes consists of some of the gymnastics carried on in the school classes.

The play "Are We Dressing" provides in comedy as many misunderstandings and mistakes as could possibly be crowded into half an hour.

The Operetta with a cast of 70 in the fantastic tale, "The Land of Old and New," presents solos, duets, trios and choruses with plenty of pantomime, action and fun.

A matinee will be given on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. There will be special admission prices at this performance for students.

THE NEW SHOPPE

Prime Minister McKenzie King and his government were released from pre-election pledges against the use of conscription for overseas service by a decisive "Yes" vote in Monday's plebiscite.

With the exception of Quebec the rest of Canada gave three to one or better for the affirmative while Quebec balloted less than three to one in the "No" column.

Locally the answer was a decided Yes, and in the Red Deer riding 132 out of 154 polls reporting the vote stood at 12 488 "Yes" to 3,194 negative.

The polls in the immediate district reported as following:

|                   | YES | NO |
|-------------------|-----|----|
| Sunnyslope        | 56  | 33 |
| Jutland           | 63  | 13 |
| Neapolis School   | 49  | 15 |
| Didsbury          | 381 | 82 |
| Dog Pound         | 73  | 34 |
| Elkton School     | 68  | 25 |
| Bergen School     | 98  | 14 |
| Sunberry Valley   | 32  | 15 |
| Sundre            | 93  | 26 |
| Westward Ho       | 98  | 29 |
| Westerdale School | 67  | 34 |
| Innis Lake school | 52  | 7  |
| Olds East         | 324 | 42 |
| Olds West         | 255 | 35 |

Innisfail (town) gave 489 "Yes" to 41 "No's"; and Red Deer with 3 polls 943 "Yes" and 100 "No's"

Only 8 polls in the Red Deer riding failed to register a majority of Yes votes. The hot spot for the "no" vote was in the Torrington - Wimborne district with Torrington 72 No and 47 yes, Curlew 53-24, Fairmont 47-28, Wimborne 51-27, Mayton 25-22. Other polls with "No" majorities were Caroline 70-66, Craig 26-6 and New Hill 18-15.

Joint Dance for Cigarettes Successful

The Dance held in the Didsbury Theatre on April 28th for providing cigarettes for the Didsbury and district boys in the forces overseas, was a big success and the sum of $121.35 was cleared.

The winner of the draw for the $10.00 War Savings Certificate was Floyd Ahlgrim and for the three $5. Certificates were Vivian Caithness, Tom Collinge and Allen Marsh.

A committee of four, representing the sponsors, I O D.E., A W.S.C., Canadian Legion and Tanks, was formed to look after the money. It was also decided to start a "Didsbury and District tobacco Fund." Mrs. Durrant looking after the sending of the cigarettes. Anyone wishing to donate to the fund may do so by leaving their contribution with Mrs. Durant.

Organize For Red Cross Drive.

Organization for the Red Cross Drive for funds which will be held from May 11 to 23 inclusive, was commenced at an executive meeting of the local branch held on Tuesday evening.

Organizing committees were set up for the East, West and Town and these committees will lay out the districts and appoint canvassers to call on every person in the community.

The committees appointed were: East, H. Morgan and A. Brusso; West, C. E. Reiber and W. H. Davies; Town, H. Lynch-Staunton and E. Brinton.

$9,000,000.00 has been set as the objective and $2,500.00 has been set as the quota for this district. This means on a basis of the number of subscribers in the 1940 drive that an average subscription of $5.00 will be needed to attain that quota. Of course many subscriptions of larger amounts will be needed to attain that average.

This year the Canadian Government is supplying the funds needed by the various organizations. But the Red Cross is necessarily excluded from that arrangement. The Red Cross is international. Its position rests on the Conventions of Geneva, ratified by acts of parliament. These require that the Society be supported by voluntary subscriptions, and it is only by maintaining such support that the Canadian Red Cross Society can command the rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed under international law. No belligerent government may finance the Canadian Red Cross; to do so would be to destroy the international status of the Society and even wipe out its immunity under fire.

It is only through the Red Cross Society that any Canadian can do anything for a Canadian, British, Australian or New Zealand prisoners of war. It is only through its enquiry bureau and its facilities for international investigation that information may be obtained as to missing Canadian fighting men.

Gardens Tell a Story

Have you ever "said it with flowers." Have you realized the pleasure and happiness it brings? Have you the real wish of doing all you can to bring final success in this present war?

There are so many of you who find it impossible to help in the war effort as substantially as you wish. You cannot enlist and you cannot join auxiliary units because your duties keep you home. Aren't their times when you wish you could really do something that would settle the unrest within yourself of sharing the war effort. Well, there are ways you can help, even if you stay at home. You may not be able to manufacture bombs, but you can help to supply the strength behind the manpower.

Have you ever thought that sharing your flowers would bring cheer to many who are serving us near our own homes? Are you willing to send your extra bulbs, slips, or cuttings or have you an extra package of seeds? When you are separating your iris, pansies, dahlias, and gladioli, would you consider setting some of these aside for donation to a real war cause.

The men who are here for the duration serving as instructors or as ground crew men left everything they cherished to do their share to win the war. Have you ever seen their camps? If you have ever lived in one you would understand what it would mean to see a bright flower and a neat hedge and soft grass. It helps to lighten a burden; it gives a man a memory to sustain those dark days of worry for those he has left behind.

If every family in the community gave one package of seeds or sent bulbs, clippings, seedlings, etc., then every man (in the two camps, Bowden and Penhold) would have a flower plot to call his own.

We are asking you not to delay your effort. If you have something to give, there are scores of school children who will willingly help you deliver them to the school. The first donation of early flowers will leave here on May 2nd, next Saturday.

Other districts on this line are making a similar effort. Won't Didsbury really turn out 100% and make this scheme a real success. We are depending upon you to really push the effort. Get your friends and neighbors interested. It is worth while!

Remember that the early seeds leave here on May 2nd, and the cuttings, shrubs, bulbs etc. go on May 16th. Any extra garden tools you could loan would be invaluable.

We are appealing to every member of our community—married or single—to help us and you are one of them. Will you look over your gardens and send your donations?

Its another way to show your real appreciation to those men who pro-

Leaves to Make Home at Coast

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pitt left on Monday for the coast and will make their home near Vancouver. For the past 18 months they had been at the coast and returned three weeks ago to dispose of their house and household effects.

Their residence was purchased by J. W. Wordie and they held an Auction sale on Saturday last.

During their long residence here they were both active in the social life of the town. Mrs. Pitt was an active member of the St. Cyprian's Church and W. A., while Billy served two terms on the town council and during his leisure hours his chief interest was curling. Their many friends are sorry to see them go but wish them every success in their new home.

Needs Recruits

Local detachment of the Alberta Women's Service Corps is in immediate need of recruits. Age limit of the Corps ranges from 16 to 45, but girls of 16 and 17 must have their parents written consent. Applicants must supply 2 written character references and a certificate of good health from Dr. J. L. Clarke.

Classes in map reading and air raid precaution work will be starting within a week and it is advisable for prospective members to join as soon as possible. A class in motor mechanics will be taken during the summer holidays.

Any interested are requested to get in touch with Joyce Morgan or Anne Morton immediately.

The Importance Of National Unity

Stressing the need for national unity before it is too late to act, George West, Bishop of Rangoon, who came to this continent on a visit just before Pearl Harbour and now cannot get back to Burma, comments on the Far East and throws new light on the rapid penetration of enemy forces in that part of the world.

"Everyone who has lived long in the Far East knows that money talks," says the visitor. Only the Japanese can say how much their advances through the trackless, vine-tangled forests were made possible by natives who were willing to be bought. "Chiseling and quising are near neighbors," he observed. The Japanese invaders timed their attack perfectly with regard to weather conditions but, what is more significant, they made fullest use of dishonest and internal divisions. These weaknesses become issues of national concern in time of war and are tantamount to fifth column activity. Burma found they can weaken a country as much as enemy bombers—and even assist the bombers. Disunity within the country was like a gift of ammunition to the conquerors of Singapore.

Shortly before he left Rangoon, this Britisher was asked to broadcast as the chief speaker on Burma National Day. He was given complete freedom to say whatever he wanted, and was later encouraged by reports from "up country" that his speech had given listeners a new idea of the British attitude towards Burma.

But Too Late

It was a mark of a new spirit, but it was too late. The Japanese came first. "All this was Burma's experience," warns this resident of Burma for 21 years. "It should teach us that any traces of division or dishonesty in our people are no longer irrelevant personal matters, but fatal flaws in the national effort for total victory."

Since the twenty-six countries that are now known as the United Nations, have joined to combat the Axis forces, the enemy has made use of every subterfuge to create dissension. Misrepresentation and propaganda methods have been used to drive a wedge between the United States and the British Commonwealth. Here at home we should be on our guard against any talk that may tend to weaken the war effort. Idle gossip and the spread of false rumors is but playing into the hands of the enemy. Any suggestion of defeatism is worthy only of a Quisling and should be branded as such. The United Nations are determined to carry this war through to a successful conclusion. They have but one single purpose, and that is to go forward in perfect unison in a worthy cause, and to continue the good fight until the last vestige of barbarism is vanquished. If we permit ourselves to be diverted from this task by any form of internal dissension motivated by the enemy, it will only serve to delay the final hour of victory.

Greatest Propagandist

Hitler said he would dictate peace terms to Britain in Buckingham Palace on August 5, 1940. He said he would take Moscow within three weeks of June 22, 1941, and predicted the utter defeat of Russia. He is the greatest propagandist of history. Nazi agents are disseminating their lies all over North and South America. Many of them are sowing the seeds of discord and suspicion right here in Canada. These are the people who throw out the suggestion that saving of gasoline is not necessary. That saving of sugar is a racket. That War Saving Certificates are no good, and that you'll never get your money back. We have all met the dupes who pass this information along, some of whom never realize that they are playing into the hands of the enemy. Only by concentrating on the single purpose in hand, that of bending every effort to defeat the enemy, may we expect to emerge triumphant in our fight to rid the world of this monstrous and evil thing that darkens the sky and casts its sinister shadow over a war-torn world.

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

People who are off colour say they're liverish or their liver is bad! Do you know how serious this is—that it may lead to permanent ill health—your whole system poisoned and broken down?

● Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," headache, backache, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 23c, 50c.

"Constantly in Pain, Now A New Woman"

For a long time I felt very miserable with liver trouble and constipation which brought on such bad headaches that I could hardly do my housework. I started Fruit-a-tives and felt better at once. After using only one box the awful headaches were gone, constipation left me and I felt like a new woman.

Miss J. Duplante, Cornwall, Ont.

"Suffered For Years, Now Feel Grand"

I was always irritable, tired, headache, I could not eat or sleep well and had very severe constipation. After trying many medicines I found "Fruit-a-tives." My headaches and constipation have disappeared and I am never tired or irritable now.

Mrs. J. H. LeBlanc, Montreal, P.Q.

Gardening Emphasis

Should Make Gardens Work For National Health This Year

No fancy gardens this year! Canadians are urged to put gardening emphasis on maximum nutrition, and conservation of seed, garden tools and time. A good neighbour policy is advised—sharing tools, dividing packets of seed and exchanging produce.

Family tastes must be considered. The following vegetables, all rich in vitamin content, will serve as a guide as to what to plant: Tomatoes, lettuce, turnip greens, chard, cabbage, kale, onions, beets, carrots, potatoes, rutabaga, peas, parsnips.

Rich in vitamin C, tomatoes are also a good source of vitamin A, and thiamin of the B group, canned as well as fresh. Cabbage, cooked or in cole slaw, is also a healthy winter dish as sauerkraut. Peas, dried green can be stored for winter use, and beans when mature are a staple article of diet as well as being good while green.

Space seeds carefully when planting and so save seeds and labor when thinning. Don't work the ground too soon. Starting too early will spoil the soil. When a piece of earth will crumble apart in your fingers, the soil is dry enough to cultivate.

Order Now Effective

Prohibits Merchants From Displaying Or Advertising Rubber Goods

An order from the wartime prices and trade board to retailers prohibits merchants from displaying in their store windows or advertising in any way any rubber product ordinarily used by civilians.

Groups of articles coming under the new ruling include erasers, bath toys, rubber capes and bathing suits, rubber footwear, shoes with rubber soles, rubber gloves and hot water bottles, pump and garden hose, babies' wear, balls of all kinds including bladders for footballs, basketballs and punchballs and rubber stationery articles.

Mails order catalogs may continue to list these rubber products, but no catalog issued on or after July 15, 1942, is permitted to carry an illustration of any of the products mentioned in the order.

Giving Little Help

Czechs Have Ways Of Keeping Many Things From Nazis

The Czechoslovakia Bulletin says: German newspapers in Prague complain that any rumor spread by enemies of the Reich is believed by the Czech population with astonishing credulity. When it was reported that the Nazi authorities were going to confiscate bed-sheets for German soldiers in the field, the Czechs began cutting their bed-sheets into pieces and making them into underwear, unwilling to contribute anything to the success of Germany.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

ART

The conscious utterance of thought, by speech or action, to any end, is Art—Emerson.

The highest problem of every art is, by means of appearances, to produce the illusion of a loftier reality.—Goethe.

The beautiful is the most useful in art; but the sublime is the most helpful to morals, for it elevates the mind.—Joubert.

We must form perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out in grand and noble lives.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The art which is grand and yet simple is that which presupposes the greatest elevation both in artist and in public.—Amiel.

The true work of art is but the shadow of the divine perfection.—Michael Angelo.

EFFICIENT SERVICE

Without a hitch or loss of life, and all part of its quiet, efficient way of doing things the British Navy has carried most of the Australians back to their homeland, where they can help to defend it from aggression. The grey, sleek ships of the "Silent Service" are still performing their quiet and some day these will again make grand reading.

Apples As Sweetener

Juice Condensed To Syrup Is Good Substitute For Sugar

Ontario apple growers have let it be known through their representatives that they are interested in the researches of the United States Department of Agriculture which looks towards the use of apples as a sugar saver. According to these researches, apple juice, condensed to syrup, may be poured into the morning coffee as a substitute for sugar. Not only that, but a "super-sugar-saving pectin" for jam and jelly making, also made from apples, is another development of the department's eastern regional laboratory at Philadelphia.

Far From Exhausted

John Bull Working Hard But Is Still Going Strong

Almost half of Great Britain's forty-five million people are either in the armed forces or working on munitions, says the Hamilton Spectator. Her war production now equals that of Germany; her construction of new naval tonnage is four times that of pre-war days; she is building merchant ships at the rate of 1,100,000 tons a year, and the Royal Air Force now exceeds Germany's both in size and quality. John Bull is sweating, but he is far from exhausted.

Heavy Order From Britain For Bacon And Hams Must Be Filled By Canada

The Canadian hog, the Canadian farmer who produced it and the layman Canadian who didn't eat this hog, played an important part in the Dominion's 1941 aid-to-Britain program. In that same order their part in 1942 is destined to be even greater.

In 1941 this Dominion shipped to the United Kingdom 425,000,000 pounds of bacon and hams. Now it is engaged in another 12-months contract calling for 600,000,000 pounds of pork products. That is an order unheard of in peacetime years and like the 425,000,000-pound program, it is going to be accomplished through the co-operative efforts of hogs, farmers and domestic consumers.

During the past year Canadians were asked to eat less pork. Officials say they did. This voluntary restriction plus a ban on shipment of Canadian pork to the United States resulted in something like 2,000,000 pounds of pork products a week which was diverted to Britain. Thus Canada's commitments were met. "This same co-operation is going to be just as necessary to ensure that we fulfill our current contract," say Agriculture Department spokesmen.

Present indications are that Britain will take all the pork products over and above the 600,000,000 pounds contracted for that Canada can provide. The hope of Agriculture Department officials is that consumer co-operation which, with the efforts of producers made 1941 a triumphant year on the bacon front, will be maintained. "The effort to provide Britain with the bacon required in 1941 was a nip and tuck battle for several months," department officials recalled.

The same facts apply to Canada's cheese-for-Britain program. In 1941 Canadian farmers supplied 112,000,000 pounds of cheese to the United Kingdom and in 1942 the contract will be about 150,000,000 pounds.

To ensure that all possible supplies were available for export the Dairy Products Board made effective a regulation that the production of cheese of Ontario and Quebec, the major cheese producing provinces, should be available for export.

Removal of this regulation in November demonstrated that the required amount for export was in sight in spite of a difficult year.

Biggest problem of cheese production was an early drought which curtailed summer output in the eastern provinces. At the end of August cheese production had increased only one per cent, compared with the same eight months in 1940.

Restrictions made it impossible for Canadians to enjoy their usual quantities of home-produced cheese but information reaching agriculture authorities was that Canadians generally welcomed an opportunity to cut down cheese and bacon consumption if it would benefit the people of Britain.

The price paid by the British food ministry plus bonuses for grade from Dominion, Ontario and Quebec governments and a one-cent-a-pound Dominion government bonus for export, brought cheese prices to 20 cents a pound for highest quality basis Montreal.

The bacon production campaign was complicated during the year by an increase in hog prices in the United States to the point where they attracted the Canadian product. In July measures were taken to prohibit the export of hogs and pork products outside the Empire and the prices for export were increased to a point where, at conclusion of the 1940-41 contract, they were 25 per cent. above initial quotations.

Grade A Wiltshire sides, under the 1941-42 agreement will bring $19.90 per 100 pounds at Canadian seaboard, the full price being paid by the United Kingdom.

This mammoth order for bacon and hams means that 100,000 hogs must be slaughtered each week in the Dominion. Actually more than that number of hogs are killed during the heavy delivery seasons, less during the slim production months, but the Canadian bacon board sees that reserves are kept in shape for an orderly stream of pork to move forward in convoys sailing for Britain.

The hogs themselves co-operated and marketings in the latter part of 1941 have been estimated at 160,000 weekly, an increase of nearly 10 per cent. above 1940.

Important, too, to Britons is Canada's egg production. The British food ministry will take all the eggs the Dominion can ship, has ordered 30,000,000 dozen and will take 30,000,000 dozen more if it can get them.

"Two more eggs a month from every hen"—that is the slogan used in Canada's egg-for-Britain campaign.

Rejoins Merchant Service

Seaman Claims Success Due To Meeting King George

Charles Bartley, 49, of the Royal Navy, claims he owes his return to sea with the merchant service to a meeting with the King and Queen.

A leading seaman during the First Great War aboard H.M.S. Collingwood on which King George sailed as midshipman, Bartley says he tried in vain to join the merchant service when the present war broke out.

Finally he joined the Pioneer Corps and one day was questioned by Queen Elizabeth during a visit Their Majesties paid to the corps, accompanied by Admiral Sir Edward Evans. Bartley told the Queen of having served on H.M.S. Collingwood and King George joined the conversation, asking why Bartley had not returned to sea. Sir Edward listened attentively when Bartley explained that his attempts to join the merchant service had been unsuccessful.

Bartley says that a few weeks later, he followed an impulse to apply again for service at sea and to his astonishment "everything went as well as it had gone badly when I first tried." He was back at sea within another few weeks.

Princess Donates Blood

Lady Patricia Ramsay, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, former governor-general of Canada, and grand-daughter of Queen Victoria, gave away half-a-pint of blood the other day for wounded soldiers and air raid victims.

Plums are generally used as pickles in Japan and almost every household has them.

Prefers The Hills

Prospector Not Yet Ready To Come Back To Civilization

Sam Cleland, 77-year-old prospector who drifted into Wells, B.C., after 12 years of solitude in the hills of what he calls "mountain goat" country, decided after getting an earful of the war news that he wouldn't stay here any longer than necessary.

"I'm going back to the hills where I belong," he said. "Next time I come out I may stay out, but not now, not now."

Cleland, who was wounded at Vimy Ridge in the first Great War and homesteaded in the Peace River country before taking to prospecting in the interior hills of British Columbia, said he couldn't believe Britain and Germany were at war again.

"We liked those fellows years ago and you can't tell me they are looking for more," declared Cleland, who said he hadn't seen a fellow human since 1932.

Flu Germ Isolated

Science One Step Nearer Production Of Protective Vaccine

An incredibly small and deadly bullet-shaped molecule, only four-millionths of an inch thick, has been branded as the cause of one of the miseries of mankind, human influenza.

Its isolation and its picture, taken by the new electron microscope, were described to the American Philosophical Society.

This molecule, a small bit of protein, is one of the tiniest disease agents known to science. One of the most startling things to the layman and of profound significance to medicine about this 'flu' bullet is that it is not a living thing like microbes.

It is able to reproduce itself, when in living tissue, but that seems to be more of a chemical reaction than a sign of actual life.

The discovery has opened a new way to make vaccines against human 'flu'. A new vaccine has already been made which protects animals against human 'flu', and experiments are now starting to learn whether it will protect man.

The report was made by Doctors Leslie A. Chambers and Werner Henle, of the Eldridge Reeves Johnson Research Foundation, University of Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania experiments show that the 'flu' particles are able to attach themselves to larger particles and ride them like a lot of children on one horse.

These observations may be useful in learning how the 'flu' epidemics spread so rapidly completely around the world.

One of these 'flu' horses is responsible for the new vaccine. It is a substance known as protamine, to which the 'flu' bullets flock. The resulting mixture is so powerful that 10 quadrillionths of a gram, dry weight, will give the 'flu' to a mouse.

About Bone China

Contains About Fifty Per Cent. Bone In Its Composition

Did you know that a china cup contains 50 per cent. of bone, that the bone is, in fact, very largely responsible for the prized quality of translucency in china?

There is an interesting story about the first use of bones for china-making. This type of pottery gets its name from the country where it was first produced—China—and Oriental potters guarded their secret formula very closely. The master potters of Europe tried for years, without success, to imitate this beautiful ware, which at one time was more precious than gold itself.

One day in the early 18th century, it is said a French missionary showed some of the pottery of his own country to a Chinese sage, and asked why it was so obviously inferior. The old Chinese said, "You should put more bone in the ware"—meaning more strength. When this answer came to the ears of the English potters they translated it quite literally, and began to put real bones into their wares. London Listener.

Savageries Committed In Poland Are Attested By Eye-Witness Accounts

A Magic Voice

Tribute Is Paid To L. W. Brockington For The Glory Of His Words

Mr. L. W. Brockington is resigning his post as special adviser to the War Cabinet, his valedictory to be a bomber flight to England where he will speak to British workers in munitions factories and to the British people over the BBC and to the United States about England through American radio facilities.

It will be a fine and fitting valedictory, and one that L. W. Brockington can pronounce better perhaps than anybody else in our English world to-day. There are greater orators than Mr. Brockington, and more powerful advocates and debaters, but when it comes to the poetry of English, to the sheen of its beauty and its lucid magic, he has few if any peers. His is the eloquence of a man who loves and reveres our language, who knows his classics as he knows his law, who, poet at heart, can weave beautiful tapestries of English with the glory of words.

To most men a microphone is an infernal mechanical contraption that breeds little but fear. To L. W. Brockington it is a musical instrument to be played upon with beauty and skill; an instrument which should bring out the best in human speech. No one else in this country has been able to use it with such witchery for us all.

Britain's acknowledgment of this is the British Government's invitation to him to go to England and speak to the British people. Not much more of practical recognition of a great art could come to any man.

Mr. Brockington's going from the high post that he has held for nearly two years means something of loss. It is good to know, however, that the magic of his voice and the appeal of it are not to be lost to our war effort; that he will be a constant volunteer for war work. It is good also for Ottawa to know that he is to become a permanent resident, taking up here the practice of law. He will be a rich asset to this city.—Ottawa Journal.

Becomes A Habit

R.A.F. Pilot Looked For Enemy Planes Even In America

War and peace-time flying are two completely different things, but an R.A.F. war ace testing a Bel Air-cobra in Buffalo found that he was "always on the lookout for non-existent enemy planes. The habits I picked up in flying over the English Channel and France are too strong to be discarded." Wing Commander Roland S. S. Tuck, 25, said. "To-day while I was flying over the Niagara river I found myself constantly looking up and down and sideways to see if any enemy ships were around."

Every village and group in Poland bears "the bloody traces of the passage of the Germans," the Polish government in London declared in a book, "The German Occupation of Poland."

Crediting "authenticated testimony and reliable accounts" from the unhappy land, the book—containing a statement circulated to Allied governments last spring and a series of eye-witness accounts—said "these savageries" assumed "even more serious proportions" after the Nazis established themselves.

They took the form of "mass executions either without trial or on the basis of sentences imposed by German courts."

The statement put the number of civilians "murdered by the German authorities" at 70,000, exclusive of those killed in the military campaign, dying in concentration camps or from Nazi-created starvation conditions. A later estimate this autumn boosted to 82,000 the number executed and said 30,000 died in prison camps.

Frequently the Nazis dispensed with "pretext for these massacres" and killed Poles "on the principle of collective responsibility." As proof, the book prints a document quoting an announcement by the Warsaw district police chief Nov. 30, 1939, telling of a band of Polish criminals' killing a Polish policeman at No. 9 Nalewski Street, the announcement said that due to the "reprehensible attitude" of the residents who made identification difficult "53 Jews of the male sex were shot."

In Warsaw, 180 of 300 civilian hostages were massacred last year after a prisoner escaped from jail in January and failed to surrender within the prescribed 48-hour limit. On another occasion according to a report in the occupation authorities' newspaper in Warsaw, 53 occupants of a building were executed because "a Jewish criminal who had a dossier with the police was living there."

Punitive expeditions played their part. The book said when an expedition from Lublin became stuck on a sideroad the Germans forced 11 persons from a nearby village to extricate the vehicle and then shot them. In another case, 300 men, women and children were "lined up in three rows and machine-gunned."

School children also felt the Nazi fury. An individual, identified as M.L., said 16 boys were shot after a Gdynia police station window was broken and 50 school students, arrested as suspects, failed to denounce the culprit.

Not For Food

Farmer In Missouri Raises Corn For Making Corn Cob Pipes

J. G. Gray, a farmer living in Clay county, Missouri, specializes in raising corn—not for the grain but for the cobs for pipe making.

Last summer Gray raised 7,000 bushels of corn cobs and they make about 1,000,000 pipes.

Gray has been farming for 21 years and for the past 15 years he has specialized in growing cob pipe corn. He explained that this type of corn is much like any other except the cobs are larger than in most varieties.

He has a contract with a cob pipe manufacturing company in Washington, Mo., and sells all of his cobs to that concern.

From the 7,000 bushels of cobs Gray raised last year he expects to get 360,000 good cobs. Each cob will make about three pipes.

The World of Wheat

We are told that an International Wheat Conference is sitting in Washington to deal with the world's wheat situation. There is much that is good for them to do now that the resources of all the United Nations have been pooled. The Washington Conference will no doubt direct the supplies of wheat to the places where they are needed, and no doubt they will make arrangements for the distribution of needed wheat and other foodstuffs to the hungry people of the world as soon as the war is over.

For myself I do sincerely trust, however, that the conference will not be led, in their enthusiasm, to design policies to set up any "plan" or quotas for the export of wheat when the war is over, for these artificial man-made controls, invariably in the past have curtailed the export of wheat have built up surpluses and so reduced price. Let the Washington Conference, however, simply recommend that international trade after the war should be freed from the tariff barriers which have been choking it, and they will be rendering a most worthy service to the consumers of bread, to the producers of wheat, and to all mankind.

Following factors have tended to raise price: Some U.S. and Canadian grain is going to Russia -- The food situation on the continent of Europe continues serious -- Canadian overseas exports have been higher recently than for several months.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Record supplies of wheat and corn and a scarcity of ocean shipping has paralyzed Argentina's grain trade -- U.S. winter wheat crop prospects are excellent -- Favorable weather prevails over most of Europe.

Trade Regulations.

TIRE BUYERS

To offset any 'black market' operations in stolen tires, dealers are asked by Mr. Walter S. Campbell, regional representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Alberta, to take the names and addresses and license numbers of strangers offering to sell them tires. Since the tire restriction order came into force, there have been outbreaks of tire thefts in some parts of the country.

Telephone the Board's Regional Office in Edmonton if any suspicious offerings of used tires are made.

Fashion for Men

"Why not all of us go Collegiate and wear out all the odd coats and trousers we have collected," said Mr. Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board, in discussing with reporters in Winnipeg the savings in material that are made by eliminating cuffs from mens pants and by eliminating cloth over cloth fashion.

Haven't most men been wisecracking for years past about what paragons of fashion they'll be "when old clothes become fashionable."

Price for New Potatoes

In some of the city stores, new or imported potatoes are on sale at fancy prices. After the end of April the Wartime Prices & Trade Board's selling on new potatoes comes into effect. From May 1st onwards, the prices for new potatoes, whether home grown or imported, must not exceed five cents per pound.

Allow Sugar for Canning.

Sugar For Preserves—To aid thrifty housewives who do up their own fruit preserves and make jams and jellies, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces that housewives may obtain for canning and preserving fruit, one-half pound of sugar for each pound weight of fruit. For jams and jellies, they may obtain three-quarters of a pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. This is in addition to sugar ration allowed for home use. It does not apply to manufacturers and no additional sugar may be purchased for curing or preserving meats.

Icing From Glucose—Necessity is the mother of invention, and the child sometimes does credit to its parent. Because sugar icing on cakes is now prohibited under the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, some bakers have been experimenting with an icing made from glucose. It's not only a very healthful base, but the experimenters say it makes a better icing than sugar. The buns don't dry up so quickly.

No great technical or agriculture discoveries this week, except, of course, the Sam Adair method of improving muddy roads. Sam's idea is to get four boys and four planks; two of the boys lay down their planks for the car to drive on, while the other two rush ahead and make the next section of the road. The first two pick up their planks and rush ahead and then the second two pick up the second planks and etc. etc. ad nauseum. When inter-

UNIVERSITY FARM YOUNG PEOPLE'S WEEK

Eight full days of education, recreation and entertainment are now being planned for the 24th annual Farm Young People's Week at the University of Alberta. For 23 years this very successful short course has been sponsored by the Department of Extension and the Faculty of Agriculture. In the years that are past, more than one young farm boy or girl attending this course during the month of June when the campus is at its loveliest, has felt an awakening desire to further their education by attending the University as a regular student. Later, they have been able to realize this ambition.

Over $250 in scholarships and prizes is awarded in competitions for grain and livestock judging, public speaking, exhibition of handicrafts, and for a reading course. In regard to the latter, prospective students are advised to start on this course now, so they will have sufficient time to complete the reading. Scholarships include a course at the School of Agriculture at Olds.

Trips are being arranged to the Parliament Buildings, industrial plants and other points of interest. On Saturday, June 6, the Department of Animal Husbandry will hold its annual Feeders' Day to present the results of their livestock experiments to the farmers of the province.

Students will live on the University campus, at a rate of $12 for room, board and registration fee. Special transportation rates are available from the bus lines.

The course, which is open to all rural young people between 16 and 27 years of age, starts on June 4 and closes on June 11, 1942. Further particulars may be obtained from the Director, Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

People who buy more of anything than they currently need, and merchants who encourage them to do so, are sabotaging the war effort and are therefore public enemies.

Loyal citizens do not hoard. They buy only for their immediate needs. They cheerfully adjust their standard of living, realizing that their country's needs must come first. They do not try to gain unfair advantages over their neighbours.

Are you a hoarder or a loyal citizen? Are you hampering Canada's war effort by unnecessary buying? Or are you co-operating to the best of your ability to save Canada from such horrors as Hong Kong?

If Canadians do their duty, there will be no more hoarding. Everyone will get a fair share of the goods available. More food can be sent to Great Britain. More raw materials — more manpower — will be available for making guns, tanks, planes and other armaments to back up our armed forces.

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

Going places... this jolly jumper ensemble with its little Scotch bonnet to match! Anne Adams designed Pattern 4846 for the active junior crowd. There's a V-necked, front-buttoned jumper, whose bib-like bodice continues as a panel in the skirt. The same effect is repeated in the back. The side sections of the skirt, which has no side seams, are cut on the bias. If you like, the jumper may be snap-fastened down the front, using buttons only for trim. The contrast blouse has a little Peter Pan collar and long or short sleeves. Add the big bow at the neck, unless you use a high round neckline on the jumper. This ensemble is finished quickly with the Sewing Instructor's help.

Pattern 4846 is available in girls' sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10, jumper and cap takes 1 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric and blouse, 1 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric.

PLANES of THE R.C.A.F.

and how to spot them

APPROVED BY THE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

CANADIAN-DESIGNED and Canadian-built as a transport aircraft to meet year-round operational conditions in this country, the Norseman single-engine high-wing monoplane is a sturdy airplane with large weight-carrying capacity. There is nothing spectacular about its appearance or performance, but it has achieved a great reputation as a most reliable aircraft.

It is used in the Royal Canadian Air Force, principally as a wireless trainer, and has been affectionately nicknamed the "Flying Class-Room." It can conveniently carry a pilot, instructor and half-a-dozen embryo wireless operators or navigators of the bomber squadrons of tomorrow.

It is constructed of welded tubing fuselage with fabric-covered wings and has a fixed undercarriage on which wheels, skis or floats can be fitted with equal ease.

A 550 h.p. Pratt and Whitney Wasp engine gives the Norseman a top speed of 170 m.p.h. at 5,000 feet and a cruising speed of 150 m.p.h. Gross weight is 6,450 pounds and the wing span is 51 feet, 6 inches. Maximum range is 870 miles at 150 m.p.h.

The Norseman can be recognized by its relatively long wing, the enclosed cabin and the full engine-cowling.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

After the problem of securing a director has been disposed of, the securing of a suitable play is the next important step. How many men and women in your community might be inveigled into trying out their wings as budding actors or actresses. Usually it is found that there are more women than men available, hence plays for all or almost all women casts are necessary to meet just this problem. After reading and sorting plays from publishers and friends, or discussing plays with an experienced director, you face the problem of royalty or non-royalty plays before you definitely make up your mind about your play.

It is wise to remember that most good plays are in the royalty class. That means at least five dollars out of your proceeds. In the long run I believe it pays for the lines of these plays written by competent authors are good enough to carry the play through even if your actors are of only average quality. For instance "The Devil Among the Skins" (3 men and 1 woman), a rollicking comedy will play itself. We find the same effect with "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" (4 women and 1 man), but both cost five dollars royalty for the use of the script. "Oh, but you don't have to pay the royalty if you are giving the proceeds to charity" or "Of course, we don't pay the royalty, we just change the name. We always get away with it." Yes, I know, many do just that, but they haven't stopped to think of all the time it took to put this play into the shape for your use, and surely you wouldn't ask the author to work for nothing. No, not even for war services. Does the electric light company or the town hall give you their services free everytime you ask for them. Well, don't ask the author to do so either, just because he isn't there to defend his rights.

However, there are a few good plays in the non-royalty class which are available. I shall be happy to give you a list if you care to write Mary Ellen, Box 326, Regina, Sask.

But enuf sed this time. Watch again next week. Be sure you enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your requests.

CANADA'S HEALTH

The condition of Canada's health is summarized in a pertinent article written for the Health League of Canada by Frank Chamberlain, publicist. "Canadians are a sick people," he writes, "and we are not alarmed about it. We go about our daily business as if there were nothing wrong."

Yet, he charges, half a million Canadian children have been found to be improperly nourished. A quarter of million of our Canadians suffer from impaired hearing. Seventy-seven thousand children have weak or damaged hearts. Thirty-five thousand are mentally retarded. Thirty thousand are suffering from tuberculosis. Thirty-eight hundred are partially blind. Over 1,000 are wholly blind and 1,400 are totally deaf.

Referring to a recent statement by Col. J. L. Ralston, Canada's minister of national defence, indicating that out of 50,000 young Canadians who had offered their services in Canada's armed forces only 30,000 were found to be physically fit, the writer goes on to say "This is a tragedy, a sensational tragedy. I thought the newspapers of this country would blazen their eight-column headlines with this shocking fact."

Canada loses 311 children every year from diphtheria, despite the fact that toxoid will prevent diphtheria, the writer continues. Two hundred and seventy-one people die in Canada each year from typhoid fever, and between the years 1916-1937 there were 47 typhoid fever epidemics, despite the fact that known methods of pasteurization of milk and safeguarding of water supplies will eliminate this disease.

The article points out that in a single year in Canada 16,075 infants under one year died, or 75 per 1,000 live births. New Zealand loses 30 infants for every 1,000 live births. "Is there any reason why Canada should not be able to do as well as New Zealand?" Chamberlain asks.

"List the 25 leading countries of the world, and you'll find that there are only four with worse records of maternal death rates than Canada," he goes on. "What are we doing about it? Why are the newspapers, the magazines, the radio, so silent?"

Back To Wooden Shoes

The newspaper La France Socialiste said that municipal officials in the Paris workers' suburbs were buying large quantities of wooden shoes for school children because of the leather shortage. The shoes, called "sabots," now cost about 10 times more than formerly, the newspaper said.

SIGNS OF WINTER—NEW STYLE

"How are the planes landing?" is the chief concern of Canada's northland and sub-arctic dwellers, who can disregard the migration of game and other natural weather signals nowadays. For when the northern planes change from floats to skis, to seek snow landings instead of water, winter has come. Photos illustrate the change-over just completed by Wings, Ltd., one of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's new northern air system, at Lac Du Bonnet in Manitoba. Top, a Wasp plane is "dolled" to the hangar for its new undercarriage, while below another is seen in process of change-over to skis.

ALL-BRAN'S "BETTER WAY" HAS BEEN OUR WAY FOR A LONG TIME

Says Mr. Charles Belair, Arvida, Quebec: "KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN has long been a favorite in our home. Mother used to serve it to us when we were young... and since my wife started making ALL-BRAN muffins three or four times a week and serving ALL-BRAN as a breakfast cereal, we have had no more use for pills or powders. ALL-BRAN keeps us regular... naturally." Why don't you try ALL-BRAN'S

"Better Way" to correct the cause if you are troubled by constipation due to lack of the right kind of 'bulk' in your diet? But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like harsh cathartics. It takes time. Eat it regularly and drink plenty of water. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's, in two convenient size packages, or ask for the individual serving package at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

"ALL THAT GLITTERS"

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

CHAPTER XVIII.

Ransome stared grimly across the terrace. "You know it's what we think. A shipment of the gold bars will be made about two weeks from now and the express truck will be held up!"

Tamar's hand covered her trembling lips. Then she said: "Oh, no, Ranny! Why that's ridiculous! I never heard of anything so absurd." "Indeed? And what did you think all of the preparations were for? Think they were going to have a pink tea at the Cricket Hill and that this is one of their games to surprise the guests? No, no, Tam. The evidence means business or I'm a very poor judge."

"Sh! Here's comes Aristotle. Guess I'd better run on, Ran. Wouldn't you like to come up and see Mother a minute?"

"Thanks, of course I would."

Laughing gayly on some trivial subject, they went into the wide hall and up the stairs. Phoebe poked her head through the rear swinging door just as Ransome caught up Tamar's hand, and a broad smile lit her face.

"The' goes de most beauteous couple in de country! An' de mos' in love-est man!" Phoebe flapped back to the kitchen. "Jes, make up a little ginguh ale and a drap of dat O' South'n Comfo't!" She started chipping ice for the glasses.

Tamar left Ransome in the hall window seat under a dormer, while she went into Maris' room to see if she were awake and ready to receive a caller.

Her mother greeted the thrust-in head. "Back darling? Come on in and see me. I thought I heard a man's voice just now. Was that Ransome?"

at Shadwell had given her warning that Tamar might have fallen in love with the young engineer. She and Knox had spoken of it and her husband had laughingly waved aside the idea.

Maris watched the two youngsters before her with a catch in her heart. They would always be youngsters to her—they would never seem grown up adults with the capacity for loving and mating.

Ransome stood up and held out his hand. "I really should be going. I'm afraid that father will cast me out for being gone so long. Miss Edie is probably still sitting on the edge of her chair with pad and pencil in hand because I'd just started a letter when—" he broke off. He had started to say when he saw Tamar run down the stairs from Dr. Forrester's office.

"Miss Edie is certainly a faithful soul," Tamar helped him out. She reminded her always of a frightened rabbit, just ready to scuttle for cover, under the blueberry vines on Cricket Hill.

"Don't come down," Ransome said as Tamar made a motion to follow him.

"Wait a minute, Mistuh Ranny," Phoebe's voice came from the stairs. "Ah's bringin' you something to wet yo' whistle."

Ranny laughed. "Light of my life, Phoebe! Good girl! I hope it's not potent."

"No suh! Not too potent for a gen'man lak you, Mistuh Ranny. Jes' a lil drap, in some ginguh ale."

"Ugh!" grimaced Tamar.

"That's all right for you, Honey. But Mistuh Ranny loks his ginguh ale wahmed up a bit wif a lil whisky."

Phoebe set the clinking glasses down and poured the liquid over the ice.

"Mums?"

"Thanks, not now, Tamar." She would wait until before dinner and have just a little one with Knox, who liked to bring her a glass to sip slowly while he talked to her.

Ransome handed his glass back and said, "Guess I will let you see me to the door, Miss Randolph."

"Very well, Mr. Todd," Tamar rose obediently.

"Thanks for the drink, Phoebe. And I'll see you soon again, Mums."

The two women, the faithful colored servant and the frail invalid, heard their voices still banteringly gay, on the stairs.

Their eyes left the door and turned to meet guiltily. "What's mattuh wif dem two younguns?" Phoebe demanded, belligerently.

"I wish I knew," Maris Randolph answered helplessly. "They did their best to act normally. In fact, they overdid it and that's how I guessed."

"Yassum. Ah could tell dat dey was bein' jes' twice again as nach'l, an' dat's how come ah knowed it. Mistuh Ranny stopped me wif dat look in his eyes. Yassum, Miz Maris, dem kids is in trouble again!"

Phoebe picked up the tray and hurried toward the stairs. Maybe she could get down in time to see Ranny leave. A sudden suspicion shot through Phoebe. Maybe they had seen that Miz Maris wasn't quite as well as usual. Maybe that was it. She shook her head sagaciously.

Ransome said softly at the door: "Now remember and don't mention anything yet to anybody. I'm going to see your father myself, but I thought perhaps I'd try to keep it from him that you'd overheard that conversation there at the Chestnut. He would be worried sick over you, Tamar."

"All right, Ranny. Maybe you know best."

"And you'll promise me that you won't go to the Cricket Hill any more with your father?"

"Well, that's a big promise, Ranny. I nearly always go over there on Thursday afternoon late, and bring Christopher here for dinner."

"What's the idea? Can't he drive his own car? Give him an excuse, just any of them—tell him you don't like to leave your mother in the late afternoon."

"All right, Bossy. I won't go over to the Cricket Hill alone again. Does that satisfy you?"

"Well, it comes as near satisfaction as I can get," he smiled at her. He wanted to say that for complete satisfaction she must not even see Christopher again. He opened his car door and waved his hand to her.

Tamar climbed the stairs slowly. She didn't go into Maris' room immediately, but on into her own. She sank down on the floor and looked out of the wide window at the river. It sparkled and glittered with the light of thousands of diamonds cast upon the water by the sunlight.

Three months ago there was not a more peaceful place in the world than Shadwell. Now, the pain in her breast rose suffocatingly, now her mother a sob caught her throat. She bit her lips. She could not cry, there must be no tell-tale tear stains.

She rose in determination and stripped off the silk shirt and the jodhpurs, standing in brief silken "skimpies." She took from her closet a red striped housecoat and hurried into the bathroom.

How did Ransome intend to handle the situation at the mine she asked herself.

British Rule In India

Tribute Paid To Britain For Manner In Which Country Has Been Governed

Sir: At a time when so many conventional writers are repeating the conventionalities on British rule in India, it is refreshing to read an informed opinion by an authority of international reputation: "Any one who has had a chance to see part of this enormous empire, and particularly the most exquisite gem in its crown, India, cannot help admiring the genial and prudent manner, the consistency and strength, with which an Asiatic country of 365,000,000 inhabitants has been governed by England for 170 years. Colonial history can present no other case of a European nation's solving such a gigantic civilizing problem in so brilliant a manner."

Probably many readers will recall this passage, which occurs on page 262 of "Chiang Kai-shek," by Sven Hedin. Charles Honour, East Concord, N.Y.—Letter in New York Times.

Headache For Axis

United States Speeding Up Production Of Planes And Tanks

The speaker of the house of representatives, Sam Rayburn, said the United States now is making more than 3,300 planes a month and that it already has a worldwide fighting front six times as many soldiers as Gen. Pershing had with the A.E.F. after 10 months of the First Great War.

"We and our Allies can and will build two and a half times as many planes as all our enemies put together," he said.

"Without divulging military secrets I can say that one factory alone is turning out each day an entire train-load of tanks."

Every element of the country's war production effort right now is either up to or ahead of the program that has been outlined.

SMILE AWHILE

Grocer—Do you want white or brown eggs, ma'am?

Bride—The kind I want are white with a yellow polka dot in the middle.

Hubby—"You never tell me what you buy. Don't I get my voice in the buying?"

Wife—"Certainly, darling! You get the invoice."

Cavalry Recruit—I don't like the look of this horse's head, sir.

Sergeant—Oh, don't worry. You'll soon get over that!

Frank—Mamma, please tell me how father got to know you.

Mamma—One day I fell into the river, and your father jumped in and saved me.

Frank—Well, that's funny; he won't let me learn how to swim.

Wife—What did you ever do that benefitted any fellow-man?

Hubby—I married you, didn't I?

Plumber—I've come to fix that old tub in the kitchen.

Youngster—Mama, here's the doctor to see the cook.

YOUR SCRAP RUBBER

is now a vital war material

Enemy action in the Far East has caused such an acute shortage of rubber that our whole war effort is in serious danger. Canada and her Allies must have rubber, quickly, for the armed forces, for factories, for ships. The Japanese control our source of crude rubber imports—the only other quickly available supply is old scrap rubber, which can be reclaimed. Every citizen in Canada must do his part in collecting all the scrap rubber in the country and turning it over to the Government for war purposes. Here is how to do it.

THIS IS AN URGENT APPEAL FOR YOUR HELP

Question: Is the rubber situation really serious?

Answer: The shortage of rubber is so grave that any citizen hoarding rubber or using it unnecessarily is committing an act of disloyalty.
It is now illegal to destroy any rubber article.

Question: Of what use is reclaimed rubber?

Answer: Old rubber is processed so that the rubber content is reclaimed. This reclaimed rubber is used in the manufacture of essential articles for our war effort, thus replacing crude rubber.

Question: How much scrap rubber is needed?

Answer: Fifty Million Pounds. This is a large quantity, but it MUST be found. Every old piece of rubber in Canada, no matter how small, is needed, QUICKLY.

Question: Should I turn in any usable rubber articles as well as worn out ones?

Answer: Absolutely not! By no means discard anything that is still useful and that might have to be replaced. On the other hand, rubber tires used as boat bumpers, swings, etc.,
should be turned in for war uses.

HOW DO I TURN IN MY SCRAP RUBBER?

The school boys and girls of Canada are being organized, through the school authorities, to act as Official Collectors of Scrap Rubber. The school nearest you is, therefore, your best Collection Depot.
You may dispose of your scrap rubber in any one of the following four ways:

When you gather up your scrap rubber and dispose of it by one of these methods, it will be used by the Government for Canada's War Effort. Do it NOW!

SCRAP RUBBER DIVISION ROYAL BANK BUILDING, TORONTO

This advertisement is issued in co-operation with The National Salvage Campaign, Department of National War Services

Question: What kind of scrap rubber is needed?

Answer: Every all-rubber or part-rubber article must be salvaged. Here are a few of the articles you must turn in:

Old Tires of every kind Rubbers
Old Inner Tubes Overshoes
Rubber Boots, Hats, Coats, Aprons, Pants,
Gloves, Tubing, Matting, Toys
Sport Shoes (crepe soles are especially good)
Garden Hose Hot Water Bottles Stair Treads
Bathing Caps and many other articles

Question: What happens to the scrap rubber collected?

Answer: The scrap is sorted, baled and assembled into carload lots and is then purchased by the Government at fixed prices throughout Canada. The Government pays forwarding transportation charges on these carload lots, and is responsible for their allocation. You may be sure that every pound will be used directly or indirectly in the war effort.

Question: How do I go about saving scrap rubber?

Answer: Start hunting for it TODAY. Clean out your cellars, attics, garages and sheds right away. You will find more rubber articles than you expect. Start them all on their way to the battlefront.

1. Give it to the children for their school collection.
2. Give it to your local National Salvage Committee.
3. Leave it with any Service Station or Tire
Dealer where you see the sign: "Voluntary Scrap Rubber Receiving Depot."
4. Sell it to a junk collector.
